ABOUT THE SHOW:

Alternate Titles: Alotta Lovin', XXXLove, BBBW (Big, Beautiful, Black Woman)

FORMAT: Reality TV (for those who take reality straight).

AUDIENCE: 70% of the U.S. population is what skinny doctors call “overweight.” I’m pretty sure that means a lot of people will relate to my search for love. But this show is for anyone who wants to see a big girl with a big heart find love and have fun in the process!

LOCATION: I’m a Bay Area girl, but am happy to relocate for the sake of the show. My one priority is that the house isn’t some immaculate mansion! That’s just not who I am. I think it would be far more realistic (and hilarious), to film the show in an average home, maybe even a somewhat cramped quarters. Let the men suffer for love...

THE PITCH:

Haters will say that pitching a show about myself is a little conceited... what makes me think that extremely busy, devastatingly handsome (wink, wink) TV execs will listen to what I have to say?

Here's the down-low ladies and gentlemen...

It breaks my big heart everyday to turn on the TV for a healthy dose of reality programming and be forced to watch men swooning over a bunch of bimbos, bridezillas and b*$!&es competing for men. Come on! Where do they find these stuck-up broads?

I scan the channels to find a show I can relate to and to my horror; the only BBWs on TV are competing to lose the most weight! I CANNOT relate to that!

I may not know everything there is to know about Reality TV, but one thing is clear...

BIG GIRLS ARE BEING FORCED TO LOSE WEIGHT... WHILE THE SKINNY WOMEN ARE GETTING ALL THE MEN!

I'm here to change that. Read on to find out why I'm the perfect person for this show...

Stick with me sweetie, I don't bite. Unless of course, you're into that sort of thing...

ABOUT ME:

My name is Damashata Keneta Washington.

I'm a size XXXL and proud of it!

People should never let what size they are prevent them from fulfilling their dreams, ambitions, and desires. I believe everyone is talented in their own way and should be given a chance to do their thing. My thing is this reality TV show. I want to inspire big girls (and boys) everywhere and teach them that love comes in all shapes and sizes. I know my dream man is out there!

I have an identical twin sister, Miss J., (more about her later). I was born to parents Mary Frances Hollins (deceased) and Richard Lee Washington. In my spare time, I attend church, read and write poetry, model and hang out with my home girls.

Friends and Family for Special Guests:

My Identical Twin, Miss J.

When Miss J. is around, anything is possible! She is the daring, controlling, dramatic one. She is wild and crazy especially when at the club. Get some drinks in her and it is over!

I thought about including a picture of her but what's the point... she's my twin! Stop tripping and go back and look at my pictures if you want to know what she looks like.

Judge #1, Nikki Cruise

She is simply the best. She used to be a disc jockey for KMEL in San Francisco, known as The Black Widow. She is currently on the air at mega100online.

Ms. Nikki keeps all her comments real and straight to the point in a low-key, ghetto fabulous way. She always lets me know if I am dating a hustler or not. I know she wants the best for me and if it wasn't for her, I wouldn't still be standing with my walk through with GOD. She is into old school music from New Edition to TLC, not to mention all Gospel Music from Fred Hammond to Kirk Franklin.

Nikki was friends with my mom who has passed away. Out of all my mom's friends, Nikki is the one I am in contact with the most. She has three beautiful children, two boys and a step daughter. They think of me as their Auntie D.

Judge #2, Yesenia Orozco

Yesenia is a military wife, student, and a hardworking person.

Most importantly, she loves me to death! We met at a community college. She got stuck being my math tutor... which proved that she has the patience of an angel. She has been there for me through my last HORRIBLE relationship and has been the best friend a girl could want.

She is smart, funny, crazy, wild in the club, and has an outstanding personality.

Judge #3, Ms. Pretty Dark Skin

Oh my, what can I say about her? She is funny, smart, and intelligent. She is a business woman during the day, a mom everyday, and yet always has time to play! She is one of my good friends and always wants the best for me. I tell her about the men I date and she is always kind enough to give me her unbiased opinion. I trust her every judgment on everything.

SHOW SPRINGBOARDS:

Episode 1: Whole Lotta Love

Because big girls need love too!

A meet and greet to mingle with the handsome fellas (of any nationality, I don't discriminate). Meanwhile, behind the scenes, watching on hidden cameras, my homegirls Nikkie Cruise and Nasha along with Church Mentor Boobie Stevens, and one of my brothers will be doing some private investigating.

After the day is over and the boys are tucked snug in their beds... I'll reconvene with my posse and see who they think should stay and who needs to SHIP OUT! We will literally find these gentlemen in the house, pull the sheets off their bodies and hand them their bags. I'll wave from the front door as they hit the road! Good riddance!

Episode 2: Big Girls Don't Cry

It's a process of elimination, baby.

More elimination... I'll try not to get emotional. Day 2 begins my chance to really get to know these fellas on a fun and intimate level.

As soon as they wake up (to the bullhorn), they will be split up into teams. First order of business is breakfast in bed... for me. Each team will have ten minutes to whip me up something delicious. I have particular likes and dislikes (runny eggs, GET OUT!) and they will have to figure these out by deciphering clues in poetry that I will provide.

Since I like to read and write poetry, after breakfast, they will spend the remainder of the day writing a romantic, sexy, classy poem on how they would spit game at me to win me over. I will bring in my homeboy Dee-jay and my hair dresser Nasha to help me judge the poems. Whichever group has the best poem combined with the best breakfast, will stay on the show.

Episode 3:

Plus Size Shopping Extravaganza!

Because I need a man with style.

Shopping trip, boys! During this episode, I will give each team $150 dollars to go shopping for me at: Lane Bryant, Fashion Bug, or The Avenue.

Each team will pick me out a fabulous outfit that I could wear to a hypothetical location they will be assigned: a club, church, concert, dinner and a movie, etc. They must also include the bra and panties that match, along with the accessories such as shoes, and jewelry. In addition to that, I want them to bring back change... I don't care if it's a penny, but I want to see if they can follow directions and be thrifty. Afterward, the gentlemen will be treated to a runway show. I will model the clothes and my friends will judge which outfit is the best.

Episode 4: Ballers!

Because I need a man who likes to sweat.

I love football but my favorite sport is basketball. I want to make sure these jocks have what it takes on the court. I want to make their sexy, hot, bodies sweat.

Of course we'll have an NBA pro, coach the boys to really make them hustle. As the referee, I will pick two men whom I think have made the most effort to win me over with their athletic skills. I'll have two dates that night!

Meanwhile, the rest of the guys will endure another round of elimination back at the house.

Episode 5: The Number One Man in My Life

Because my man will need to know and love the Lord Almighty.

My boys and I will go to church. No goofing off during the sermons! No disrespecting when you are in the house of the Lord. After church, I will introduce the boys to my church family. While God doesn't pass judgment... you better believe, I will be watching these men like a hawk to see who is with me and who is SHIPPING OUT!

Episode 6: Home is Where the Heart Is.

Because my man will be generous.

I am very big on homelessness as I have been there myself. I want to know how these handsome men would relate to this excruciating fact about my past. The men will be broken into two teams... team homeless and team generous. The homeless team will have to survive on the street for a day with no money. The generous team will have to assist a homeless person or volunteer at a shelter.

Whoever proves their best to me in this episode wins a movie date or night out on the town with me at a place of my choice

Episode 7: Raise me up!

Because my man will know it doesn't take money to make money.

I'm very big into helping charities and non-profit organizations. I want the men to team up with a local non-profit such as a children's shelter, diabetes foundation, or breast cancer foundation. They will then develop and execute a fund-raiser (with zero money to start with). This will force them to be innovative, to solicit help from others. The most dedicated team will move on the next round.

Episode 8: Dave and BUSTED!

We'll take the guys to one of my favorite fun spots... Dave and Buster's. I will be hidden in the back and they won't know that this is part of the show. We'll tell the guys they have been good so they get the night off. We will stick decoys in the crowd, obnoxious drunks, scantily clad females, etc. This will allow me to see who is really down for me, how their social skills are, and how they act around strangers.

Episode 9: Baby Daddies!

Because my man knows a REAL man can raise a kid.

I love children and plan on having a bunch. The remaining men will receive those baby dolls they use to teach high school kids what it's like to be a parent. For 48-hrs they will take care of the baby, me, and the entire house. We'll give them plenty of chores to keep them occupied. These guys better be sure I don't have to lift a finger or get disrupted for 48 hours.

Episode 10: Meet the Washington's

Family day! We will spend the whole day with my dad's family at a BBQ. I want to see how family orientated these men are. I love my family but drama sometimes shows up when my dad's family is involved. I want the guys to keep me sane and still make a good impression. The men will team up with my family members and participate in relay races such as potato sack races, egg toss and jump roping.

Episode Idea 11: What's Cookin' Good Lookin'?

Because I hate to cook!

I want the men to cook a meal of their choice that shows off their individuality, but more importantly... puts me in the mood for love! They must personally invite me to the dinner using a creative invitation and pick out the semi formal attire I will wear. Whoever wins over my palate, will stay. The chef who prepares the worst meal... SHIPS OUT!

Episode Idea 12: Hot Mess Up In the Club!

I have a big surprise in store for tonight! We'll go to a dance club because I love to have a good time... but someone else in my life also loves a good time at the club and I've been keeping her a secret. After an hour or so of dancing with my boys, I will go to the ladies room and switch places with my twin Miss J! I may be a hot mess when at the club, but Miss J is even messier... especially when she has a few drinks in her. My sister will get down and wild and I will witness everything behind the scenes. This is my chance to see which men have class and which are just trying to get a little @$$.

Episode Idea 13: Let's Get Personal

The remaining men will bring their mothers onto the show! Mine has passed so getting along with mom is really important to me. If they don't have a mom, we'll have something to bond about and they can choose someone else just as important in their life. I will observe how well these men get along with their family. Furthermore, I'll have one on one time with their family member and get as much juicy dirt on them as possible.

To spice things up... we won't stop here. I want each mother to invite one of the guy's ex-girlfriends. This will help me dig up more dirt than moms alone can provide. It will also be revealing to see how these guys left things with their exes! I will invite some of my close girlfriends to the event to have extra sets of eyes looking out for me.

Episode 14: Wedding Bells!

This is the final episode! Hand me a tissue please, I will definitely be bawling. At this point, there will probably only be three guys left. The men will plan how they will propose to me and where they will take me on my honeymoon during this episode. Yup, they will have their hands FULL!

Each team is only allowed to spend $3000.00 (hypothetical $$) total to spend on the honeymoon (airfare, hotel, and spending money, dinner, etc.). This should be an ideal vacation of where I would want to go. They better not choose anywhere in California or anywhere hot and humid! They will assemble our vacation plan in a binder, equipped with pictures and print-outs of the prices they found.

My wedding will be a Cinderella type of event, so the way my man proposes to me will have to be like something out of a fairytale. Whatever time they have left over after planning our honeymoon, they will devote to coming up with a marriage proposal to sweep me off of my feet.

During the final hour, they will “propose” and show me where we’re going on our honeymoon. Then I will let the man of my dreams know who he is! The surprise at the end of the show is that we will actually go on the vacation that he planned for me!
